

Vanity Fair (print)

March 2019

Circulation: 72,012

VANITY FAIR

Spring Style Special!

MILEY RISING

“If you think I’m
a rebel without a cause,
you aren’t paying enough attention.”

By ZACH BARON
Photographs by RYAN MCGINLEY

Plus

- SELMA BLAIR
FINDS her SUPERPOWER
- 10 BREAKOUT STARS
STAND UP—and STAND OUT
- ZAZIE BEETZ
WEARS all the HATS!

Exclusive

- FACEBOOK’S
SHADOW
GOVERNMENT
- DON
WINSLOW
ON THE
EL CHAPO
TRIAL
- THE BILLIONAIRE
BOYS COUP

MARCH 2019
£4.99
International £5.40 AUS $13.99

9 770733 889265 03 >

Agenda by Annabel Davidson

Launch
Dive in for Pearls

Huge at home, and about to be huge here, Tasaki is one of Japan's most respected luxury jewellery houses—and now one of Bond Street's most anticipated openings. With acclaimed designer Prabal Gurung as creative director, Tasaki may be synonymous with pearls, but there's nothing of your grandmother's jewellery box here: this is contemporary fine and high jewellery at its most exciting. tasaki.co.uk

Brilliant Grace ring by Tasaki

Event
Stall Stories

Important antiques, Old Masters and some of the best examples of 20th-century jewellery are increasingly shown in the same arena, and the European Fine Art Fair in Maastricht (March 16-24) in the Netherlands is one of the most respected fairs to find all three categories, and more besides. From rare, early 18th-century maps to bold 1960s earrings by Cartier, the fair showcases more than 35,000 expertly vetted items for sale. tefaf.com

1960s Cartier Paris ear clips at Symbolic & Chase

Boucheron's ritzy new apartment

Reopening
Comfort Zone

With its new apartment open on the fourth floor of 26 Place Vendôme, French jewellers Boucheron has breathed an element of a family home back into the early 18th-century building they've occupied since 1893, with a floor devoted to a Ritz-run apartment. In honour of the overhaul, several new additions have been made to their fine jewellery line-up. boucheron.com

Christina Zimpel art on a Michael Kors tote bag

Collaboration
Global Getaway

The giant totes seen on the runway for Michael Kors Collection Spring 2019 featured paintings of paradise by Australian artist Christina Zimpel—idyllic, broad brush-strokes of beach umbrellas on golden sand here, peachy skies and bougainvillea-clad buildings there. The totes put you right on that faraway beach—especially if you opt for the oversized luggage tag to adorn it. michaelkors.co.uk

Jewellery
Knuckle Clusters

Hatton Garden is London's traditional jewellery-making district, where diamonds are dealt and heists are held, but there's a new crop of designers making the area worth a visit for those simply wanting to shop. Ruth Tomlinson's newly renovated studio at 10 Hatton Place, EC1, just under her atelier, should be first stop for anyone wanting to see the work of one of the UK's most talented independent jewellers. Her handcrafted pieces have an ethereal quality quite unlike anyone else's. ruthtomlinson.com

Tourmaline and aquamarine ring by Ruth Tomlinson

Charity
Follow Your Nose

Red Nose Day (March 15) has become one of the United Kingdom's most beloved charitable institutions, and never fails to round up plenty of celebrity support. This year Keira Knightley and Eddie Redmayne are among the stars modelling a range of T-shirts created in collaboration with Disney to help raise funds for the charity's TV show Comic Relief. On sale now. tkmaxx.com

Rosie Huntington-Whiteley for Red Nose Day 2019